

Create polished
stone wall finishes

Venetian Plaster is a finishing technique using thin layers of plaster applied with a spatula or trowel and then burnished to create a smooth surface with the illusion of depth and texture. “Venetian Plaster” is an American-made term to explain the variety of different techniques and materials used to create the polished stucco finish.

Unlimited Color Options with Tint Bases

Venetian Plaster bases are untinted so the color options are limitless. Simply choose a color from your favorite paint dealer's fan deck and have it tinted right in the store. Because Venetian Plaster is a polished plaster with translucency and depth, the color chosen will not match exactly, but the highs and lows will be in the same "family" of color.

Ultra Deep Tint Base (VP200)

This tintable acrylic plaster can develop a beautiful, highly polished marble-like appearance. The more you polish, the more translucent the finish becomes. This translucency creates the depth seen in real marble, and the beautiful finish is so smooth, it even feels like marble. Although it was originally intended for creating dark and ultra-deep colors, finishers prefer this base for light and mid-tone colors because of its translucency and ease of polishing. Available in quart and gallon container sizes.

Tint Base (VP100)

This tintable acrylic plaster base contains titanium dioxide which allows for creating light pastel to opaque mid-tone colors. Various looks can be created such as lightly polished marble or stone. Available in quart and gallon container sizes.

Protective Clear Topcoat (VP300)

This trowel applied clear protective sealer is intended for use over Venetian Plaster finishes in high traffic areas where washability is imperative or for rooms that experience high humidity. Available in quart and gallon container sizes.

Pearl (VP303) Topcoat

This trowel applied topcoat offers the same protection as the clear topcoat while adding a decorative, translucent pearl shimmer to the Venetian Plaster finish. Available in a quart container size.

Japanese Trowels

Produced in the same region as the famous Samurai swords, these trowels are made of 3 mm stainless steel which makes them extremely flexible and yet incredibly strong. Available in 225 mm, 240 mm and 270 mm sizes.
